$132 million investment made towards this New Third Line

Noida-based Jubilant Pharmova has announced that Jubilant HollisterStier LLC (JHS)—a wholly owned subsidiary and a leading North American pharmaceutical contract manufacturer, specialising in sterile injectables and serving top global innovator pharma companies, has launched its New Sterile Fill & Finish line, third at its Spokane Manufacturing Facility in Washington, US.

The launch was marked by the successful production of the inaugural batch, initiating revenue generation from the new Line. This milestone denotes a significant advancement in Jubilant HollisterStier's multi-phase expansion strategy and brings an additional 50% capacity at its Spokane manufacturing facility.

The New Line features advanced isolator technology designed to deliver enhanced sterility assurance, throughput and operational precision. Built to meet the highest global regulatory standards, the New Line significantly enhances the company's ability to support complex injectable programs across a broad range of therapeutic areas. The $132 million investment towards this New Third Line, reflects the company's long-term commitment to innovation, quality and supply chain resilience.

Together with the commissioning of its upcoming Fourth Line, JHS is on track to double its total sterile injectable manufacturing capacity at its Spokane facility in the US. This strategic investment further reinforces JHS' leadership in domestic US pharmaceutical manufacturing.

By expanding its infrastructure and increasing onshore capacity, the company is contributing to US national health security and helping to reduce reliance on offshore supply chains— delivering a more resilient and agile pharmaceutical manufacturing ecosystem.
