"The acquisition of Mana-Tech, Ltd. represents a compelling growth opportunity to expand our commercial reach in the UK, Ireland and throughout Europe."

Argon Medical Devices, Inc., a global manufacturer of specialty medical devices used in interventional procedures, announced that it has completed the acquisition of Mana-Tech, Ltd., its exclusive distributor for the United Kingdom and Ireland.

"The acquisition of Mana-Tech, Ltd. represents a compelling growth opportunity to expand our commercial reach in the UK, Ireland and throughout Europe," George Leondis, President and Chief Executive Officer of Argon Medical Devices, commented. "We are excited to have this very talented group join Argon and to work even more closely with them to continue their successful growth trajectory."

The entire Mana-Tech team, including its management, sales, customer service and distribution groups, will join Argon as part of the acquisition.
