Dr V G Somani, Drugs Controller General (India) releases IPA guidelines on Market Complaints

Patient Centricity and Integrated Quality Management is the theme for this year's India Pharmaceutical Forum, organized by the Indian Pharmaceutical Alliance (IPA) in Mumbai. Now in its 5th edition, the event brought together manufacturers, regulators, academia and other relevant stakeholders together facilitate discussions resulting in meaningful and actionable outcomes. Dr VG Somani, Drugs Controller General of India delivered the Keynote Address and released the IPA guidelines on Market Complaints.

Dr VG Somani, Drugs Controller General of India said, "We are working to simplify regulatory framework in pharma sector in India as we believe the pharma industry should focus on simplicity to achieve efficient compliance. The key for regulation lies not in what is written, but how it is implemented. Patient centricity is vital to Indian Pharmaceutical industry and regulations should be able to enhance it than restrain."

"Indian Pharmaceutical Forum (IPF) is a pioneering initiative of IPA that lays a strong foundation for quality culture and capability building. Quality is fundamental to our industry and would help to take India to next level. This Forum is a unique platform which brings together all stakeholders comprising of Indian and global regulators, government policymakers, industry, academia to move forward the quality agenda.

This year's theme Patient Centricity and Integrated Quality Management will be pivotal for our journey on quality," said Mr. Sudarshan Jain, Secretary-General, Indian Pharmaceutical Alliance

The 2020 Forum focused on patient-centric approach to the manufacturing of quality medicines. With ten sessions spread over two days, the conference focused on some of the pressing issues in pharmaceutical industry such as Quality, Capability Building, Affordability and Patient-Centric Approach among other topics. With international and Indian stakeholders coming together to discuss pertinent issues related to quality management systems and thereof, the Forum brought together the relevant stakeholders in the Pharmaceutical industry to map a way forward for the Indian pharmaceutical industry.

"Indian pharma has made considerable progress in our quality journey. Forums such as the IPF play a significant role in achieving the vision of the industry - to be the global benchmark in quality. Several eminent speakers participated in this edition of the IPF and made it an enriching experience,” said Mr. Satish Reddy, President, Indian Pharmaceutical Alliance.
