To launch healthcare app bringing doctors, patients more close with technology

In order to make quality and affordable healthcare services reach the last mile, leading tertiary care hospital group Ujala Cygnus is all set to launch their healthcare app which will be one-stop solution for all healthcare needs. The app will empower patients with real-time doctor appointment booking, tele-consultation, medical tests among others just sitting in the confinement of their homes.

Titled as UCH MyHealth, which will be available on Android and IOS platforms, the app aims at providing a quick and efficient solution in accessing the healthcare services beyond any geographical constraint. User can avail all the services with a click of button by simply login with their email or mobile number and existing patients can login with their MR ID. The app will also allow doorstep delivery of essential medicines as part of an effort to restrict people's movement further.

Out of the many other services, the app enables the consumer real time appointments for the doctors along with keeping their health records intact for lifetime. To enlighten and educate patients on various health issues, the app will also hold health blogs and tutorial videos.

“UCH MyHealth is abound with convenient solutions that not only help improve people's lives, but also help said Shashank Saini, Head, Digital Health, Ujala Cygnus Group of Hospitals.

The app is going to launch early next year .

Ujala Cygnus Group of hospitals currently operates 13 hospitals across India. In line with its long-term strategy of establishing major presence in smaller towns, Ujala Cygnus Group has strategically chosen Tier II and Tier III cities for expansion.
