

Mom's Belief onboards Dr Mohan Chellappa as member of advisory board

23 February 2021 | News

Dr Chellappa has been instrumental in the development of international clinical consultancy activities

Mom's Belief, India's premier mental healthcare platform for a child with special needs, has onboarded Dr Mohan Chellappa as a member of the advisory board. Dr Chellappa is a founding member of John Hopkins Medicine International since 1997 and is serving as Executive Vice President. He will focus to accelerate the company's efforts to bring mental health issues to the mainstream.

Dr Chellappa has been instrumental in the development of international clinical consultancy activities, in the area of clinical care programme development, utilisation of information technology in healthcare. He has a broad surgical experience, having worked in countries such as India, Malaysia, Singapore, the United Kingdom and the United States.

Commenting on this, Nitin Bindlish, CEO, Mom's Belief said. "Mohan brings a wealth of experience and expertise in the healthcare space. He has had an inspiring journey and his diverse knowledge and insights will play a pivotal role in shaping the Mom Belief's journey as we aim to become the world's largest and affordable mental healthcare platform."

Dr Mohan Chellappa, President, Global Ventures, Johns Hopkins Medicine International and Executive Vice President said, "I am glad to be associated with the company that is working hard and fast towards catering to mental health and making it accessible to everyone. With intuitive programmes the company have been able to develop over the years, I am looking forward to working with them and take it a notch above. I am very confident that Mom's Belief is well placed for the transformation we want to bring within the society, and I look forward to work towards strengthening this further."