HCAH brings first transition care centre in Gurugram

25 October 2021 | News

The centre will provide cost-effective clinical care in Gurugram and surrounding areas

HCAH (formerly HealthCare atHOME) has launched its third transition care centre in India and first in North India in Sector-51, Gurugram. The Chief Guest, Dr Yash Garg, Deputy Commissioner of Gururgram inaugurated the centre.

"The way healthcare system has been unfolding, the demand for Transition Care has increased significantly in India. Gurugram has been in great need of transition care services. The transition care centre launched by HCAH will cater to the growing demand, filling the massive healthcare continuum gap between tertiary care hospitals and homes," saidDr Garg.

Vivek Srivastava, Co-Founder & CEO – HCAH said, “We hope the transition care centre will bridge the healthcare continuum gap between tertiary care hospitals and homes. It will provide more cost-effective clinical care for long-term patients in Gurugram to recover in an infection-free, rehabilitation, and skilled nursing environment under 24/7 medical supervision. HCAH facilities are testimony to 3000 successful recoveries.”

"We hope that the newly launched transition centre in Gurugram, which has facilities like balance and gamification lab, mobility tracker, robotic hand, occupational therapy / ADL lab, and speech and swallow therapy to name a few, will meet the growing demand for transition Care services,” says Dr Gaurav Thukral, COO, HCAH.
