The fund will be utilised for product development, clinic partnerships and strengthening workforce

Bengaluru-based diabetes care startup OneCare has raised ~$1 Million in funding in a Pre-Seed investment round led by Multiply Ventures and Better Capital.

The startup plans to utilise the fund for product development along with clinic partnerships and to strengthen its workforce across teams like tech, clinical solutions, marketing and operations.

The funding saw additional participation from a host of Angel investors entailing Kunah Shah (Founder, Cred), Shashank ND (Cofounder, Practo), Saikiran Krishnamurthy (Founder, xto10x), Ankit Bhati (Cofounder, Ola), Zishaan Hayath (Founder, Toppr), Farooq Adam (Cofounder, Fynd), Anand Shah (Cofounder, Ola Electric), Shariq Plasticwala (Ex-Amazon Pay Head, and Founder, Kafka Academy), Gaurang Jhunjhunwala (Partner, McKinsey), Nikhil Bhandarkar (Founder Panthera Peak Ventures), Dinesh Advani (Cofounder, Playshifu), Aditya Kulkarni (Cofounder, Stoa School), Jonathan Chan (Chief of Staff, Freetrade) and Amit Ghorawat (CoFounder, Bicycle.Ai).

The startup transforms an existing diabetes clinic into a technology-enabled, protocols-driven, smart clinic that provides comprehensive clinical, lifestyle and behavioural interventions to patients, instead of just focusing on giving medicines.
