10,000 youths to be employed as Aayu Ambassadors to take healthcare awareness to every corner of India

MedCords has recently launched the Aayu Ambassadors programme to spread awareness about healthcare across India. The programme will provide employment opportunities for youth to be known as 'Aayu Ambassadors' across the country. Around 10,000 youths will be employed as Aayu Ambassadors.

Shreyans Mehta, the co-founder at MedCords, stated that the services of the Aayu App are now being used in cities, villages, and even hamlets in large numbers. The objective of the Aayu App is to provide efficient, accessible, and affordable healthcare services to every Indian.

Aayu Ambassador programme launched by Aayu App will rope in youths from across the country to spread awareness about health among the people. Through this programme, youth will educate people about how to order medicines, consult specialist doctors, get the lab tests done and create health ID for the entire family, on the Aayu App, from their home, free of cost. One can also access his/her health records through the App, anytime anywhere.
