Founder Speaks-

"Indian people weren't aware of Generic Medicines. So, that was the major challenge to make them aware that there is no difference between generic medicines and branded medicines. Generic medicines are as effective as branded ones. So, we started from Ground level campaigns to make people aware of generic medicines with an innovative business model of Generic Aadhaar from Health camps to social media posting and also on various media platforms. Challenges keep us moving and we should face them with all hard work, innovation, and focus to overcome them.

We want to reach every Indian in the upcoming future. Today we have extended to 150+cities across India but we are planning to reach every corner including Urban Cities and Rural areas where it's much needed. We want to be the Only Brand That never fails to provide Medicines of Different segments in the nation."
