The Budget is devoid of necessary benefits to the healthcare sector: Milann Fertility & Birthing Hospitals

01 February 2022 | Views

Shailesh Guntu, CEO, Milann Fertility & Birthing Hospitals

"While the overall budget seemed growth oriented, it is devoid of necessary benefits to the healthcare sector. Although the announcement on the launch of a national tele mental health programme has come as a relief in view of the mental health issue which emerged as a result of the pandemic, there are many other major health concerns which need to be addressed like stress and lifestyle issues which are also regarded as direct result of the pandemic."
