StanPlus appoints Dr Navneet Singh as Group Medical Director

31 March 2022 | News

Dr Singh will be responsible for medical supervision of all operations and will oversee the training, recruitment, upskilling and management of the entire clinical staff

StanPlus announced the appointment of Dr Navneet Singh as the Group Medical Director to ensure clinical excellence in all its verticals. With 17 years in the healthcare and healthcare facilities sector, Dr Singh will further strengthen StanPlus' quest to deliver the 'First Minute, Last Mile' Healthcare promise in order to save millions of lives.

Dr Singh is an experienced and senior professional with a demonstrated history in the hospital and healthcare industry. Over the years he has worked with the country's esteemed healthcare institutes like Fortis Healthcare, Emsos Aviation, and Radiant Healthcare amongst others, driving excellence in the field of Emergency Medicine, Critical Care Nursing, Healthcare Management and Training, and Accreditation. At StanPlus, Dr Singh will be responsible for medical supervision of all operations and will oversee the training, recruitment, upskilling and management of the entire clinical staff. He will also be redefining, standardising and creating products that will help StanPlus service its partners and patients better.
