Green growth from the booming chemical sector needs to be considered: Quantumzyme

01 February 2023 | Views

Naveen Kulkarni, CEO, Quantumzyme shares his reaction on Union Budget 2023-24

“Several energizing initiatives in the budget will contribute to the expansion of the economy. The need for an extensive research and development policy has always been stressed by the pharmaceutical industry. We appreciate the government's consideration in announcing the launch of a new pharmaceutical research program to boost R&D, which will reenergize the sector and create investment prospects. Green Growth is currently focused on Hydrogen production. However, Green from sustainability and environment needs to be considered, more from the booming chemical sector"
