GenWorks Health announces slew of strategic partnerships

10 March 2023 | News

Aims to build a unique distribution platform with new partnerships

Bengaluru-based startup GenWorks Health has announced partnerships across care areas including women wellness, critical care, renal care & oncology.

Balaji RR, Co-Founder & Chief Operating Officer, GenWorks said, “The merger with Browndove will add nephrology consumables manufacturing capability for GenWorks. This merger will help serve the highly underserved dialysis market."

He also announced a strategic partnership with Renalyx mentioning that the partnership will further strengthen the Nephrology care portfolio of GenWorks. With the Browndove merger and the Renalyx partnership, a one stop solution will be available to customers to enable augmentation of last mile dialysis services.

Balaji further announced partnerships with Critical Care Hope, Panacea Medical Technologies and Karkinos. He highlighted, “The Critical Care Hope partnership aligns with the goal of GenWorks to provide connected care ecosystem for access to quality healthcare and will enable strengthening the critical care network across the country. The strategic partnership with Panacea Medical Technologies will ensure the availability of Make in India, state of the art radiotherapy equipment across the country. The strategic partnership with Karkinos is an important step for GenWorks to further advance the Oncology care offerings, especially in the Femtech segment.”
