Kohli joins CitiusTech from Wipro where he spent nearly three decades

US-headquartered CitiusTech Healthcare Technology, with presence in Mumbai and Bengaluru, has announced that its Board of Directors has appointed Rajan Kohli, an experienced technology executive as Chief Executive Officer (CEO).

Kohli joins CitiusTech from Wipro, a global leader in technology services and solutions, where he spent nearly three decades and was responsible for $6 billion in annual revenues. He most recently served as the President of the iDEAS (Integrated Digital, Engineering and Application Services) business, supporting clients globally across industry segments.

He has held a variety of leadership positions at Wipro, including Head of Banking & Financial Services and Chief Marketing Officer, Kohli also founded and scaled Wipro Digital in the decade before taking over leadership of the iDEAS global business line.

Established in 2005, CitiusTech develops software and technology solutions for over 140 leading healthcare and life sciences organisations, including large healthcare providers, payers, pharmaceutical organisations and medical technology companies.
