Medikabazaar appoints Vishal Chaturvedi as Chief Technology Officer

28 April 2023 | News

With over a decade of experience, Chaturvedi will be leading the company's vision with a tech-first approach

Mumbai-based B2B platform for healthcare procurement solutions, Medikabazaar, has appointed Vishal Chaturvedi as its Chief Technology Officer (CTO). Chaturvedi will be working towards further scaling up current tech stack & focus towards developing newer technology products whilst continue to solve complex healthcare supply chain issues & leveraging on digital monetisation for the company.

Chaturvedi brings strong tech and business experience of close to two decades. An alumnus of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) & Indian Institute of Technology (IIT), he has previously been associated with giants such as Samsung, Amazon, British Telecom, Jio and BlackBuck where he was last associated with.

Founded in 2015 by Vivek Tiwari and Ketan Malkan, Medikabazaar is a digital platform connects sellers with medical establishments for streamlined and cost-effective procurement. They source high-quality medical supplies and equipment from China, the US, and Europe, serving both Indian and international healthcare companies. Medikabazaar collaborates with manufacturers, distributors, and healthcare facilities of all sizes.