Investment reinforces commitment to growth and innovation in India

Stäubli, a Swiss industrial and mechatronic solution provider, has opened a $15 million facility in Bengaluru. The 25,000 sq. ft office strengthens Stäubli's presence in the region, emphasising its commitment to nurturing growth and innovation in India.

The company conducted the ‘Stäubli Partnership Forum India’ event to showcase its innovative solution capabilities and the new facility to partners. With over 100 employees, the expansion demonstrates Stäubli's efforts towards local job creation and economic development.

The new facility located in Yelahanka, Bengaluru, represents three Divisions – Electrical Connectors, Fluid Connectors and Robotics – and houses a product showcase/ demonstration area, training rooms for customers and employees, a warehouse, and a service centre. Bringing together functions such as engineering, sales, and customer services, it streamlines operations for better efficiency.

With a focus on industries such as Railway, Automotive, Pharmaceuticals and Power, Stäubli has four dedicated divisions: Electrical Connectors, Fluid Connectors, Robotics and Textile, serving customers who aim to increase their productivity in multiple industrial sectors.
