Collaborating to bring prestigious MRCOG programme to North India

New Delhi-based Max Healthcare Institute, a leading healthcare provider in India, and Royal College of Obstetricians & Gynaecologists (RCOG), UK have announced a strategic collaboration to enhance specialty training programme in Obstetrics and Gynaecology.

The purpose of the partnership is to leverage the strengths of both organisations to promote and conduct training in obstetrics and gynaecology, assessment and certification of training in India.

Commenting on the partnership, Dr Sandeep Budhiraja, Group Medical Director, Max Healthcare Institute, said, "This collaboration will enable us to leverage the latest advancements in training, support, e-learning content, and training e-portfolio along with access to 70 RCOG training courses in-person or virtually. With continued guidance and support on the Member of the Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists (MRCOG) examinations, this partnership is a great value proposition for young health professionals wanting to develop a career in obstetrics and gynaecology".

Max Healthcare and Royal College of Obstetricians & Gynaecologists UK (RCOG), have signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) to establish the strategic collaboration.

The MoU was signed by Rakesh Kaushik, Director Legal & Regulatory Affairs of Max Healthcare and Kate Lancaster, Chief Executive RCOG UK.
