ValGenesis and Autocal to strengthen quality and compliance for life sciences in India

29 May 2024 | News

To assist life sciences companies meet stringent regulatory requirements for quality and safety

US-based ValGenesis Inc., the market leader in enterprise validation lifecycle management systems (VLMS), and Autocal Solutions, a pan-India company focusing on calibration, validation, and heating, ventilation, and air conditioning (HVAC) activities, have entered into a strategic partnership to address quality assurance and compliance challenges in the life sciences industry in India.

ValGenesis and Autocal have strengthened their capabilities to assist life sciences companies in India meet stringent regulatory requirements for quality and safety in drug development and manufacturing life cycles.

Autocal's spectrum of services will ensure that customers get the maximum impact from ValGenesis products, including ValGenesis VLMS, the industry standard digital validation platform for life sciences worldwide, and ValGenesis e-Logbook, a fully digital, web-based platform that eliminates the frustrations of paper-based logbooks.
