LaunchEd Global to support 1000+ allied professionals within 2 years

Edtech company LaunchEd Global has announced specific plans to assist healthcare professionals in securing direct employment opportunities in European countries, beginning with Germany.

With a growing demand for skilled medical professionals like qualified nurses and physiotherapists across Europe, LaunchEd Global is offering a comprehensive plan that includes job matching, language training (B1/B2), visa assistance, and full relocation support—making the dream of working abroad more achievable than ever. Founded in 2024, LaunchEd Global is on track to support 1000+ allied professionals within the next two years.

“There is a massive gap in the German healthcare sector while there is, and we plan to bridge that gap while empowering Indian nurses and healthcare professionals with global careers,” said Ritesh Jain, Co-founder of LaunchEd Global. “This is not just about jobs; it’s about providing long-term, high-quality professional growth in one of the most respected healthcare systems in the world,” he said.

LaunchEd Global will be able to assist skilled healthcare professionals in securing direct jobs in top German hospitals and elder care institutions. It will also help them with German language coaching (up to B2 level) to meet local requirements and assist professionals with visas, documentation, and interview preparation. LaunchEd Global will also support with accommodation, onboarding in Germany and help them with long-term PR potential, structured career support.

Germany faces a healthcare staff shortage, especially in elder care and hospital nursing, creating a massive opportunity for international professionals. LaunchEd Global will ensure that candidates are placed successfully and supported throughout the migration journey.

“Our goal is to simplify the complex migration process and ensure our candidates feel confident and cared for every step of the way,” said Kajal Dave, Co-founder of LaunchEd Global.
