CitiusTech, a leading provider of healthcare technology and services, has appointed Navneet Khandelwal as its Chief Financial Officer (CFO). A seasoned finance executive with nearly 25 years of experience in the IT services industry, Navneet will lead the company's global finance, legal, and compliance functions.

Khandelwal brings deep expertise in financial management, controllership, accounting, business process transformation, mergers & acquisitions, acquisition integration, and investor relations. He began his career at Wipro Technologies, where he spent over 16 years in leadership roles spanning audit, controllership, and business finance—culminating in his position as Vice President – Finance. Post that, he has held CFO roles across both listed and unlisted companies, including ITC Infotech, Microland, and Zensar Technologies.

Throughout his career, Khandelwal has been recognised for driving strategic growth, operational excellence, and building high-performing teams. His leadership is grounded in collaboration, transparency, and a strong focus on value creation.
