

BioSpect

the business of Bio

24 years of leveraging the business of Bio
www.biospectrumindia.co

Sartorius appoints Avantor India for distribution of filter papers

01 July 2026 | News

Customers can procure Sartorius filter paper through Avantor's established distribution network

Avantor, a leading global provider of mission-critical products and services to the life sciences and advanced technology industries, has been appointed the exclusive distributor of Sartorius Filter Papers in India.

This partnership strengthens Avantor India's filtration portfolio and enhances access for customers across academic research, quality control, pharmaceutical, biotechnology, food & beverage, and industrial laboratories.

Sartorius filter papers are widely recognised for their consistent performance, precise pore structures, and suitability for a broad range of qualitative and quantitative laboratory and industrial filtration applications.

Through this partnership, customers can procure Sartorius filter paper through Avantor's established distribution network, supported by reliable customer service and expert guidance on product handling, storage, and selection across common laboratory environments.

The Sartorius filter paper range addresses routine laboratory filtration needs, including sample clarification, gravimetric analysis, environmental testing, and process quality control. With Avantor as the exclusive distributor in India, customers can expect reliable supply, strong product availability, and technical support backed by a global life sciences organisation.