Asembia, the nation's leading provider of solutions to the specialty pharmacy industry, partners with GoodRx, America's top source for prescription prices and savings, to support the unique needs of specialty pharmacy patients.

With a database of prices for virtually every brand and generic prescription drug, the GoodRx website and free IOS and Android mobile apps allow consumers to compare drug prices and find discounts, free coupons and savings tips. Patients requiring complex specialty medications often require additional information and support. Utilizing the vast dispensing capabilities of Asembia's national network of pharmacies, ASPN OneSource offers one-stop, white-glove specialty prescription services to help patients' fill prescriptions for the best price, with on-time, door-to-door delivery.

Consumers searching cost information for specialty medications using GoodRx will be connected to Asembia's ASPN OneSource for additional support. The professional and compassionate patient care coordinators at ASPN OneSource offer key services to specialty patients.

As Asembia continues to expand the company's high-touch patient service model, this new partnership reinforces the company's ongoing commitment to collaborating with multiple industry partners to enable the highest quality care.
