

this website which will help in the first line of diagnoses and give women an option of answering a risk tracker which gives them a fair idea of the kind of risk they have for PCOS. With this initiative, we hope that we will be able to create a whole new wave of awareness and give a healthier lifestyle to all women across the nation”

The core objective of this initiative is to spread awareness about the condition, get more women diagnosed, offer support to women suffering from PCOS and create a forum to openly discuss about the problems faced. Conquer PCOS will conduct patient workshops, junior college and college programs and launch a full -fledged awareness program to bring women suffering with PCOS together and give them the means to enjoy a healthier lifestyle.
